Academic Planning Update

Program Review Update – Provost Jordan met with department heads of programs undergoing review, requesting the group to step back and consider a streamlined process which might be used on an annual basis by colleges and departments. The group is evaluating a process composed of three parts: data provided annually to all departments, a standing program summary, and an annual review similar to that provided annually to college Deans. The Provost will engage the Deans in the development of the program review process. Provost Jordan placed the work of the Academic Review Board on hold until further notice, and requested that information from Digital Measures will be used more extensively.

The Accreditation, Outcomes Assessment and Program Review organization has been established.
